

Are you unique yet?

Even though your research is unique, your name might not be.
Make yourself unique with ORCID iD.

Why ORCID?

ORCID iD is a 16-digit number, which unambiguously identifies researchers and their publications irrespective of spelling and transliteration.

ORCID is a non-profit initiative supported by universities, academies, research funders, publishing houses and libraries worldwide.

Register your personal ORCID iD free of charge via orcid.org. You can add information about publications, education, jobs and funding to your profile.

- Thanks to your ORCID iD both your research activities and your publications are more visible.
- Academic workflows become easier and you save time because you have to make entries in fewer systems.
- Often ORCID iDs are required when applying for funding or submitting manuscripts for publication.
- Wherever you work, your ORCID iD stays with you throughout your career.

ORCID

How to register?

You can register and connect your ORCID iD via BORIS, the institutional repository of the University of Bern.
This process only takes 30 seconds.

5 steps to register your ORCID iD:

- 1 Log in to BORIS (<https://boris.unibe.ch>)
- 2 Click the ORCID tab
- 3 Click the button «Connect your ORCID iD»
- 4 Add/choose your email-address and password
- 5 Click the button «authorize» – done. Now you can directly export your publications from BORIS to ORCID or vice versa.

www.unibe.ch/ub/orcid

Licence: Text CC BY, Icons © UB Bern

u^b

^b
UNIVERSITÄT
BERN

Universitätsbibliothek