

Take-home message: Fluorescence detection of the lymphatic landing sites of the prostate demonstrates a complex drainage pattern, suggesting that lymph node metastases do not follow a pre-defined pathway of metastatic spread. Our study also shows that the sensitivity of this technique to detect metastases is low.